TABLE OF CONTENTS IJ ITA VOL. 25, NO.:4

The Benefits of Evaluating the Jordanian Social Security Using Decision Modeling and Notation
Ahmad Zyad Alghzawi, Frank Vanhoenshoven, George Sammour, Koen Vanhoof ........................................ 303

Reconstruction of binary images from their horizontal and diagonal projections
Hasmik Sahakyan, Vladimir Ryazanov, Ani Margaryan .................................................................................... 331

Skills for Digital Leadership – Prerequisite for Developing High-Tech Economy
Miglena Temelkova ........................................................................................................................................ 343

Market Leadership in Bulgaria Telecommunication Sector
Anna Otsetova, Georgi Georgiev, Dimitar Kolev, Gergana Dimcheva .............................................................. 365

The stakeholderwide assessment of the impacts of accepted values of stochastic functions of project implementation on their success
Nataliia Oberemok, Ivan Oberemok .................................................................................................................. 389

Table of contents IJ ITA Vol. 25, No.:1 .............................................................................................................. 397
Table of contents IJ ITA Vol. 25, No.:2 .............................................................................................................. 398
Table of contents IJ ITA Vol. 25, No.:3 .............................................................................................................. 399
Table of contents IJ ITA Vol. 25, No.:4 .............................................................................................................. 400